Stewart Alsop, Journalist Lecture Series Speaker

by Norman Parrow

On March 12, at 8 P.M., the Student Forum Lecture Series of St. Michael's College will present the distinguished journalist, Stewart Alsop, who will speak on the topic, "Looking Forward."

Stewart Alsop is a great-nephew of Theodore Roosevelt. Mr. Alsop comes from a well known Connecticut family, and received his education on the university level from Yale.

Before World War II, Alsop was an editor with Doubleday, Doran and Company. He was rejected from all of the American military services on medical grounds, and therefore joined a famous British regiment, The King's Royal Rifle Corps. He commanded a machine gun platoon in Italy, where he won a "Mention in Dispatches for Distinguished Service." In 1944 he transferred to the American Army and worked with the French resistance, and was awarded the Croix de Guerre for his services. During the war he married Patricia Hankey in London. The couple now have four children.

"Matter of Fact," the newspaper column co-authored by Stewart Alsop and his brother Joseph Alsop has been syndicated in more than 200 newspapers in the United States and abroad. The column has been considered among the most authoritative and best-informed in the country. The brothers frequently travel abroad and they say, it is "impossible to write about foreign affairs unless you go out and see for yourself." Last year Stewart Alsop went to the Soviet Union, and covered the Summit meeting, the uprising in Morocco, and other events abroad.

The Alsop brothers received the Overseas Press Club Awards for "Best Interpretation of Foreign News" in 1949 and 1951, and for their "Best Consistent Reporting from Abroad" in 1953.

The magazine work of the Alsops is frequently found in the Saturday Evening Post and Harpers. For their magazine work they have been awarded the Lauterback Award for "a substantial contribution in the field of civil liberties" and the Benjamin Franklin Magazine Award for "the most distinguished magagine writing."

Stewart Alsop is co-author of two books, "Sub Rosa" with Thomas Braden, and "We Accuse" with his brother Joseph Alsop.

The lecture to be given by Mr. Alsop will pertain to the interpretation which he gives to the current big story in the news. He will relate this news to his general topic "Looking Forward."

Villares Selected Editor

Raymond K. LeRoux, Editor-in-Chief of The MICHAELMAN, today named as his successor, News Editor, Luis A. Villares.

LeRoux noted that he is retiring at this time in accordance with The MICHAELMAN policy that the staff "shall name successors with four or five issues remaining so that the incoming editor and his staff may benefit from the experience of the outgoing group while they are still available."

LeRoux, a dean's list student and an English major at St. Michael's, had held the position of Editor-in-Chief of The MICHAELMAN for a year.

Asked about his plans, he said he expects to act in an advisory capacity for Villares for the duration of the academic term. He will be working part time on the copy desk of the Burlington Free Press.

Mr. John D. Donoghue, faculty moderator of The MICHAELMAN, noted that the paper under the editorship of LeRoux has "provided the most thorough coverage of the campus in recent years."

In reference to LeRoux's retirement, Mr. Donoghue said: "We wish Ray success in his chosen field of journalism and are confident that Luis will be an excellent successor."

Luis A. Villares, the new Editor-in-Chief of The MICHAELMAN, has held the post of News Editor for the past year and a half. Prior to this, Villares worked on headline designing and was a staff reporter.

A graduate of Notre Dame High School in Caguas, Puerto Rico, Villares has been active in newspaper work for several years beginning with a two year editorship of his high school paper.

Questioned as to his plans for The MICHAELMAN, Villares said he hoped to further the development of the paper into a publication which will appeal to all of the interests of the student body.

In other staff changes announced this week, it was disclosed that Paul B. Simmons will assume Villares' former position as News Editor while Robert J. Butler will succeed James M. White as Sports Editor.

Art Kohler will remain as Photography Editor while Bruce Burkhard and John Hult will become Make-up Editor and Circulation Manager, respectively.

The new Business Managers will be Robert Kosmidek and Robert Sweeney. Headline design will be under the supervision of Frank Ceplinski.

Society Selects Members; Curtin Voted President

Wednesday night was a time of decision as the members of the Crown & Sword Honorary Society met in Alliot Hall to choose the fifteen Sophomores who will replace the outgoing Seniors in the Society.

Also of importance was the election of Joe Curtin as President and Jim Walton as Vice-President.

Since January 13 the Society has been working on its membership. At that time Joe Fusco, Chairman of Admission, along with Co-Chairman Jim DeBiasio and President Jim Garofano began the work of receiving applications and soon after, with the aid of the other members of the Admissions Committee, reviewed the letters of application and granted interviews to those who met the prescribed form and showed a definite interest in the Society.

The interviews were held on three evenings between February 7 and February 15. Each interview was scored by the members present and those scores were presented to the voting body on Wednesday night. After a thorough discussion of each qualifying candidate the members voted upon them and picked those whom they thought best fit the requirements for membership.

Mr. Garofano released the names of those chosen to the MICHAELMAN Thursday night. They are as follows: Edward J. Ahearn, Albert H. Choquette, Donald M. Cipriano, Philip F. Cronan, Jose J. Cao-Garcia, Charles E. Lavuezzoli, Ronald J. Lysik, Dennis J. Marcoux, Richard J. Moughan, Bartholomew G. Nyhan, Pierre A. Piffarerio, John E. Reilly, Kevin J. St. John, Michael P. Smith, and Robert F. Tobin.

The Crown and Sword wishes to take this opportunity to thank all those Sophomores who showed interest in the Society by submitting applications.

Dance Tonight

The foreign students at St. Michael's are staging a Washington's Birthday International Unity Dance tonight.

The dance in Austin Hall on campus from 8 to 12 will feature the music of the Knight-Tones.

Admission is $1.00 stag or drag.

In the past, students in the regular program have arranged dances for the foreign students. This session, the students have elected their own Student Council and are making plans for their own dance, with assistance from campus clubs and the Student Forum. All are welcome.

P-Day Scheduled March 23

Co-chairmen Joe Benkowski and Tom Dunn have just announced their plans for the upcoming P-Day activities on March 23.

This day was set up for the sole purpose of having the whole student body participate in an afternoon of fun and frolics. To add to the incentive, the happenings of this Friday afternoon are approved by the school administration. The activities are set up to accommodate every class and the faculty members.

To insure a medieval atmosphere for the day, the student is urged to make a costume of his own. The P-Day committee is prepared to give everyone various ideas as to the method for preparing these costumes. With a little imagination this particular part of the day may prove to be enough to make you get out in full regalia and join in the spirit of the day's competition.

The time of the day's activities is from 1:00 to 4:00 P.M. There is one stunt that will begin very early in the morning, this is a marathon race (reverting back to the times of old). This will entail members of the committee running with a torch from an appropriate place in Vermont to the campus. When the torch is finally brought onto the campus P-Day will formally begin.

The afternoon's events include, for one thing, a medieval hay frolic. This is a chance for the entire student body to participate in searching through the hay stack for a certificate. This certificate will entitle the finder to a reduced rate to the week end.

Another event which will allow the whole student body to participate is the Royal Swine Chase. The person who catches the greased pig will have the certificate which will entitle him to a reduction in his ticket price for the week end.

There will also be a Tug-of-War which will put the Juniors of Alumni against the Juniors of Lyons.

A joust will be staged over a pool of water. The participants in this event will include the president and vice-president of the junior class. The event will also be open to all challengers. The two individuals competing will be equipped with a three foot pole with a boxing glove attached to the end. Instructions will be given to the jousters to ensure safety.

WATCH YOUR STOCKS

There is also plans to erect two stocks (an old punitive device) near the main entrance to Alliot Hall. Another idea under miscellaneous is to send invitations to neighboring girls' schools to witness the P-Day activities.

As you can see, all the events have been designed in keeping with the theme of Junior Week end, Camelot. This is done purposely to give all the students a preview of what Junior Week end will be like.

P-Day is a tradition at St. Michael's and it will only remain a tradition with your co-operation. If you have any suggestions as to events, costumes, etc., contact Joe Benkowski in Alumni 125 or Tom Dunn in Lyons 433.

Flyers will be sent to all students informing them of any changes or additions in the P-Day program.

Start planning now to participate in the Preview Day of Junior Week end.

THE EDITOR'S NOTES

As the lead article indicates, this week I am stepping down as The MICHAELMAN editor.

The article is self explanatory. Therefore, I shall not make any lengthy farewell address. However, there are a few points that I would like to mention while I still have the license to determine what I can say.

First, I would like to apologize to all those whom I may have offended at one time or another during my tenure of office. I assure you that I have never acted with malice toward anyone or any group intentionally. To these people, I would like to give my thanks for bearing with me while I was learning my job.

Second, I would like to thank my entire staff for giving time unselfishly in order that we might have an adequate paper on campus. The list is too long to mention people individually, but thank you all.

Thirdly, I would like to thank the faculty moderator, Mr. Donoghue, for the professional advice and friendly admonitions without which The MICHAELMAN would be just an ordinary newspaper. Also in this category, I must mention his secretary, Miss Cecile Frenette, for cooperating with the staff at all times.

Fourth, I must thank all those, who for the moment, I cannot think of, but must have forgotten.

Well, now that I have been humble briefly, I am at a loss for words (such a rare thing!). I can give you a preview of what the next editor is like.

Luis Villares is a very capable fellow who has been my right arm and sometimes my left too. He is dependable, knows the job that he is assuming and I think knows a few Spanish words.

He will do a good job with the paper. I promise you that. He will be more active than I have been in regard to the Student Forum and he is raring to go to work.

In conclusion, I will say that it has been a pleasure to serve as editor, at least for me! Others may disagree. But seriously, before I fade into obscurity, I feel that it is my duty to say that no student of St. Michael's College ever need be ashamed of his College. I have been in a few and I can say without a doubt that this is the best.

I have always received the utmost consideration and the fairest treatment from both faculty and administration. This is not always true in other institutions. Contrary to some opinions, the students here at St. Michael's are treated as men, if they are willing to be treated as such.

And so I end by conforming. See you around!

K of C Starts Social Mixer

by Joseph Guilfoyle

In January, the Father Verret chapter of St. Michael's Knight's of Columbus initiated a monthly fraternal gathering to be held at Essex Junction. This week it was expanded to a social mixer for members from 8:00 to 12:00 P.M.

On February 26, the annual banquet for new members and the newly elected officers will be held at the Lincoln Inn in Essex. At the dinner, Father Osin will be the guest speaker and will talk on his travels to India and Persia. Also invited are the Very Reverend Gerald Dupont, Bishop Joyce of Burlington and a special K of C delegation from the state offices.

On the 18th anniversary of the Knights of Columbus, the St. Michael's Chapter will co-sponsor the third degree of 60 new members which will bring the total number of Knights to almost 200, placing St. Michael's near the top of all college councils in the U.S.

The weekly program carried by WCAX-TV to highlight the doings at St. Michael's, will present a detailed account of the activities of the K of C on campus and especially of its contributions Muscular Dystrophy drive.

The future for the Knights holds an Easter egg hunt for the local orphanages and several outings for the childred. A spring pilgrimage to Isle LaMotte is also in the offing.

Deadline Set For The Quest Contributions

St. Michael's College literary magazine, The Quest, is soliciting contributions for the spring issue according to Vaughn Keller and James DeBiasio, co-editors of the publication.

The deadline for contributions had been set for March 2nd but due to the mid-winter vacation which begins on that day, worthwhile entries will be accepted up until the 15th.

For this edition of The Quest, a greater variety of literary works is being sought. Contributions may be essays, short stories, plays, reviews, articles of general interest and poems.

Those who plan to submit their work to The Quest will find Mr. Keller in Lyons 126 and Mr. DeBiasio in Lyons 437.

Frosh, Senior Take PC Test

by Don Riley

Last Saturday, at 8:30 a.m., I walked into the Post Office Building in Burlington.

Upon entering, a sense of great surprise and mild shock came over me. For I had gone to Burlington at that hour to take a Peace Corps test and had gone under the assumption that others would be taking the same test.

There was no one there when I arrived. Some others arrived after a while; eight to be exact.

The whole kitandkaboodle consisted of myself, senior Bill Byrne, and seven girls, all secretaries and students. I thought it rather strange that out of a possible 5000 college students within a four mile radius of the testing center, only nine felt enough interest in the possibility of benefitting their country and adding to their own knowledge and understanding of foreign peoples, cultures, and philosophy to get up early one Saturday morning and spend approximately four hours demonstrating that they were intelligent enough to instruct some uneducated peasant in the art of crop rotation and the principles of Democracy.

The first part of the examination was two hours long, made up of an English aptitude test and an optional skills test, wherein one could choose among English, Agriculture, Health Sciences, and Mechanical Skills. The second section consisted of two tests, both an hour long, the first in American History and Institutions and the second in Modern Language Aptitudes.

Both the Verbal Aptitude Test and the English Skills had quite an edge on any exam of the sort, College Boards included, which I have ever taken myself.

The American History and Institutions section was, to borrow a phrase used by Bill Byrne, the upperclassman who took the test along with me, "searching". The Modern Language Aptitude Test was akin to something dreamt up by a semantically inclined genius in the throes of the D.T.'s.

In the afternoon I elected to take an additional skills test. Since I had already taken the English test, I was left with Agriculture, Health Sciences, and Mechanical Skills. Since my mechanical skill is limited to changing a muffler and my scientific knowledge consists of the fact that Ernest Hemingway said $E = mc^2$; I took the Agriculture test.

BUSINESS . . .

by Paul B. Simmons

The following is the second of a multi-part series dealing with the problems posed to the U.S. economy by the European Economic Community.

ON THE QUESTION OF THE COMMON MARKET - II

In last week's discussion of the background concerning the Common Market, Spain's recent decision to join this economic community was mentioned.

What forced Spain into making this application was an agreement reached a month ago by the present members of the Common Market which calls for gradual reductions of the member nations' internal agricultural trade tariffs. By the time these barriers have been abolished, a tariff wall will have been erected around the entire community which will effectively cut out any competetive agricultural imports from other nations. This, it is assumed, will stimulate the growth of the six member nations' agrarian output to the point where it will be sufficient to supply the entire community's agricultural needs.

Spain, whose undernourished economy is currently being bolstered by a lucrative European market for her agricultural exports, sees this new foodstuff tariff agreement as a deathblow. And well she might.

OTHERS IN TROUBLE AS WELL

Once Britain is accepted into the "inner six", Spain will lose approximately 85% of her agricultural export market since Britain and the other Common Market nations will be protected from imports be the above-mentioned tariff barrier. Therefore, Spain has no other alternative but to join the Market herself.

Spain is not alone in her troubles - this same agreement has cost the United States a large portion of its food export market too, and this is only the beginning of the end.

In 1960, the last year for which comparative figures are available, our total agricultural export business amounted to $4.8 billion. Of this amount, nearly one quarter, $1.1 billion, was sold to the Common Market nations. When one considers that one and one half billion dollars worth of our food exports went into foreign aid programs for which we were not paid in dollars, the $1.1 billion consumed by the "inner six" represents one-third of the U.S. agricultural exports for that year.

WHAT THE FUTURE HOLDS

Our food exports in 1960 to Europe as a whole, amounted to approximately $2 billion. That figure represents 60% of our export market which pays the U.S. in dollars. If the remaining Continental nations should join the Common Market, our European food market would be virtually wiped out.

This could happen within a very few years as at present, there are ten nations which are either applying, or considering application.

According to the general terms of the Common Market's agricultural trade agreements, only those products which cannot be grown in Europe will be allowed into the Market tariff-free. For the United States, this means that ultimately, our only major farm export to the Continent will be cotton.

OTHER PROBLEMS

Simply put, the United States stands to lose a major market for its expanding food products industry. Obviously, the loss of this market will have far reaching effects on our economy. And this is only the beginning.

Our problems are not confined to our agricultural industry, but the farmers have been the first to sustain tangible damage to their business.

We have outlined this problem because it illustrates what is in store for other industries throughout the trading world.

Some of these problems will be the next topic for discussion.

Passionists To Preach Annual Retreat, March 9-11

by Bob Lilly

Father Nelson Ziter, Spiritual Director at St. Michael's College, today disclosed the names of the retreat masters for the forthcoming retreat, and also announced the procedures for the retreatants.

Father James Verity, C.P., and Father Emmanual Garden, C.P. of the Passionist Fathers of Union City, New Jersey, will be the Retreat Masters. They have been giving retreats all of their priestly life.

The opening conference will be Friday evening March 9, at eight o'clock and the retreat will end Sunday, March 11, at three in the afternoon. Every hour has been planned for the benefit of all making the retreat and a spiritual section will be set aside in the library to provide students with wholesome and related reading material.

Father said that there would be a total of nine conferences, all pertaining to college students and their way of life.

Confessions will be heard between the hours of ten and eleven AM, and from 2 to 4 and 9 to 10 PM. Father Ziter is urging that all make a general confession for the past year.

Mass will be offered at 7 and 7:30 AM in order to alleviate the rush in the Dining Hall, Old Hall and Ryan Hall attending the early Mass while Alumni and Lyons Halls will rise for 7:30.

During the retreat there will be regular hours of recreation, between 12 and 2 in the afternoon and from 5 to 8 in the evening. Silence should be kept as much as possible at all other times.

Father also announced that each student will be given a questionnaire to evaluate the retreat, and to search for suggestions to better the retreat in the future. This may be handed in, signed or unsigned, at the end of the retreat.

All students will be asked to remain on campus during the retreat. However, they will not be asked to sign in for the conferences or for Mass but it is hoped that all will attend. Father Ziter said that the reason for this was to have all students attend on their own initiative.

Glee Club Holds Joint Concert In Montreal

by Jim McMahon

Monday, Feb. 26, the St. Michael's College Glee Club will once again travel outside the United States, to present a joint concert at 8:30 in the evening with the women's chorus of "L'Ecole Normale de Musique," a school of music located in Montreal.

This concert will be the first of two which the Glee Club will present in Montreal this year; a later concert will be given with Marianopolis College late in March.

The chorus of "L'Ecole Normale" is known to be one of the finest in Canada. All the members of the group are studying music as a major subject at the school, but, somewhat suprisingly, they will be presenting a joint concert with a men's college glee club for the first time. Several fine joint numbers are planned, all in foreign languages.

The concert will open with the clubs joining in a presentation of three love waltzes from Brahms' Liebeslieder Walzer, op. 52. These three songs, "Ein kleiner, hubscher Vogel," "Am Donaustrande," and "Nein, es ist nicht auszukornmen," will be sung in German. Accompanying the groups will be James Garofono and Thomas Corcoran.

Following this part of the program, the girls' chorus will take the stage and present many of their own songs. Then the St. Michael's Glee Club will present five songs from its own repertoire, a mixture of newly-learned numbers and ones which the club has featured with much success at past concerts.

DUET DUE

The final number scheduled for this part of the program is the "Miserere" scene from Verdi's opera Il Trovatore. Mrs. Martha Kane Tortolano will take the soprano solo in this piece, and Michael Joyce will sing the tenor part.

The final part of the concert will bring the two choruses together again for the singing of three secular ballads of the Medieval Period. These were adapted to a modern form and instrumentation by Karl Orff; however, the original language, a mixture of Latin and the vulgate of the period, will be used.

Philosophy Dept. Pays Tribute To St. Thomas

In accordance with a decree made by Pope Pius XI in 1923, St. Michael's College will present its annual tribute to St. Thomas Aquinas in observance of the saint's feast day, March 7.

The 1923 decree of Pope Pius Xi ordered that this feast should be observed with the celebration of a special High Mass as well as a disputation of some philosophical or scholarly point in honor of the saint.

At St. Michael's College, there will be a special afternoon High Mass which will be celebrated by the President of the college, the Very Reverend Gerald E. Dupont, SSE.

In the evening there will be held a "round table" discussion which will be divided into two parts: the first, an address by Very Rev. Lawrence F. Lyons, SSE, the head of St. Michael's College Philosophy department, entitled "A Tribute to St. Thomas".

This will be followed by a discussion of the subject: "The Philosopher looks at the Modern World". This program will be presided over by Mr. William M. Burke, professor of philosophy at St. Michael's.

Participating in the "round table" discussion will be Professors James G. Case and Arnold P. Gianelli of the St. Michael's philosophy department, and the chairman of the corresponding department at the University of Vermont, Dr. George Dykhuizen.

Letters To The Editor

To the Editor:

I have read with some interest several articles appearing in the issue dated 2/10/62. They appear on pages, two and three of said issue. Perhaps I should take them in the order which they have affected my writing.

On page two, in a space entitled Editor's Notes, I was pleased to find the invitation to "stop complaining . . . and write . . ." extended. It is upon these grounds and the statement of policy that the MICHAELMAN remains open to all who have something to say and say it well, "no matter which side they take", that I base this letter.

To go a bit further with this particular section of the paper, the writer has said, "It is much better to realize one's limitations then to become a self-styled critic on everything and anything."

I must differ with the writer and offer my own suggestion that while we must recognize our limitations, we must only do so with the purpose of imporving the status quo. Outside of Heaven, there is no situation which cannot be improved and one of the methods employed must be constructive and reasonable criticism, coupled with constructive and reasonable action.

The writer mentions that "there are too many complainers on campus". I personally feel that there are far too many confusing true excellence with rank mediocrity.

On page three, amid the aftermath of the Quest review, George Quinn, a staff reporter for the paper, voices the opinion that unbourgeois mentalities will not be able to accomplish anything unless there is a change of attitude or a purge. I suggest that we have already had enough purges and wonder just what direction the change of attitude should take, if we are permitted that alternative.

And just who should really change their attitude?

If I may turn again to an article on page two, written by Paul Simmons, I should like to point out that several people, including Sherman Adams, Bernard Goldfine and all those convicted of income tax evasion, have endangered their good relations for the sake of "a few dollars".

I hasten to add that I am not even thinking or speaking of construction companies or school administrations in that paragraph. I simply wish to set Mr. Simmons straight on that point.

He also states that from "the standpoint of business", there is no reason to question, validly or safely, the amount of the bill in relation to property actually destroyed. I will remain within the sacred pale of Business, eschewing any confusing muck such as ethics or morality, and raise this question. Do not all government loans include or demand or provide insurance on any damage (including vandalism) to projects or property involved?

One more item and I am done. On page one, Father Ziter, a newcomer to campus, very reasonably explains the reasons why we should make retreats. I am totally in agreement with his views and opinions. His stress of individual responsibility in matters of morality and religion is the foundation of the Church.

I would only like to know why, during every past retreat that I have witnessed, student proctors are placed outside the doors of the meeting rooms, checking the numbers of student identification cards against master lists?

The reason I ask the questions is that I should like, once and for all, this matter of individual responsibility cleared up by an authoritative, not authoritatian, source.

In closing I should like to express my hope that the liberal policies, maturity and reasonableness of the MICHAELMAN will continue as a prominent force in the school's continual change for improvement. It is one of the student organizations which, coupled with the administration's efforts, makes for a better St. Michael's.

Uncomplainingly,
F. X. Farrell

STUDENT FORUM

by Bill Jack

The Sophomore class is still ahead in the race for interclass activity points, although its margin of lead has dropped considerably now that the results of the basketball and the kinpin bowling leagues are in.

Mr. Imbres, chairman of the interclass activities committee, reported that the Sophomores now have 110 points as opposed to 102 1/2 for the Seniors, 100 for the Juniors and 37 1/2 for the Freshman.

Noting the rather ungentlemanly manner in which some students have been entering the dining hall when the doors are first opened for the afternoon and evening meals, Mr. Minotti moved that the Student Welfare Committee investigate to alleviate this situation. As a possible solution to the problem, Mr. Minotti suggested that the doors be opened 15 minutes prior to serving time for these meals.

In another motion concerning the dining hall, Mr. Rice moved that chocolate milk be made available to the students at the noon and evening meals. Rice, stating that he had received many requests for this service, suggested that two of the four milk dispensers could be used for chocolate milk.

Upon the completion of his investigation of class "A" clubs, Mr. Yeomans, chairman of the club Status Committee, moved that the Sociology Club be dropped from class "A" to class "B" status in the Forum. Yeomans cited a low active membership and the failure of the club to carry out its objectives during the past year as the reasons for his motion.

A motion to have the booklist for the up-coming academic year distributed before the close of this year, or during the summer when room assignments are sent out, was put forth by Mr. Kraut. Kraut pointed out that under the present system, booklists are not distributed until registration in the fall which allows little time for purchasing books second-hand. Mr. Upham, speaking on this motion, noted that the professors often change the texts required for their courses during the summer.

Mr. Warren, manager of the game room, moved tha the Forum absorb the monies of the game room into the Forum treasury.

Warren pointed out that under the present system, the game room revenues are kept in a distinct fund and this leads to some confusion in the assessing of the Forum's assets. Warren also stressed that the game room be allowed primary access to these funds for its maintenance and betterment.

Quoting from the Constitution of the Forum in regards to its aims, Mr. Upham moved that the foreign students on campus be represented in the Forum. This motion was passed but due to its nature, discussion on the floor was ruled out of order.

In spite of the lack of interest shown in the cause of a similar venture a few weeks back, the Forum has passed a motion which will attempt to send buses to the away-basketball game at Norwich University on February 28. The round-trip fare for this excursion will be about $1.75 as opposed to $5.15 per person for the previous endeavor.

Mr. Upham moved that the Executive Committee of the Forum investigate and report on the distinctions between the General Assembly and the Senate of the Forum. Upham went on to say that at present, the only distinction appears to be with regard to finances.

In the final motion of a very busy evening in the Forum, Mr. Ketterson suggested that the Forum check the College Bookstore. Ketterson cited book prices as the particular area of abuse and stated that many students have become antagonistic to the bookstore as a result of these prices.

Fr. A. Couture Assumes Position As Supervisor

Because of its record number of foreign students, St. Michael's College has created the position of Supervisor of Foreign Students and has named Rev. Armand A. Couture, SSE, to the post.

Some 65 students from 18 foreign countries are studying at St. Michael's. Most of them are enrolled in the special 16 week program of English for Foreign Students. With the exception of Georgetown University at Washington, St. Michael's College plays host to more foreign students than any other Catholic college in the country. Since its start in 1954, some 46 countries have sent students to St. Michael's.

Father Couture's responsibility will be over non-academic activities on and off campus. Several teachers have been sharing the duties now assigned to Fr. Couture. The academic director is Prof. Ernest A. Boulay, founder of the program.

Invitations to attend and participate in regular student activities have been extended by the Student Forum, the International Relations Club, the Knights of the Altar, PAVLA and other groups.

Communicating with the students is no problem for Fr. Couture. As part of the department's language discipline, he insists upon English. However, his own French background, including three years as pastor of the Edmundite church at Pontigny, France, helps during emergencies.

While teaching at Dunkirk N.Y., he picked up Spanish and got his master's degree in that language from the Inter-American University at Saltillo, Mexico. It enables him to converse fluently with the Latin-American students. "I haven't learned Persian yet", Fr. Couture admits, "but Akiki helps there".

Fr. Armand Couture

The St. Michael's program was inaugurated primarily to help foreign students gain admission to American colleges and universities. Open to men during the regular session, it also admits women and graduate students during the summer session.

ROTC Staff Change

by Bill Greenie

During the second semester, the Cadet Wing will note some changes in staff and line positions.

Patrick Breen, formerly Group One Commander, is now Deputy Wing Commander, replacing Regis Sullivan, who is Squadron One Commander.

Other notable changes are in the Personnel, Material, Operations and Training, Administration, Information Service, Provost Marshal, and Air Inspector, departments. Michael MacDonald replaces Joe Hogan, in Personnel. Joe will take command of a Squadron for the semester.

Materiel Officer Mike Sweeney will also be a flight commander. His position will see the efforts of Bill Goldsmith. Russ VanZandt will assume command of Group One, while John Giannotti, Jr. will be the new Operations and Training Officer.

John will be assisted by the able efforts of Bill McMahon. Bill will be Assistant Operations and Training Officer, with emphasis on the preparation of an outstanding Final Review. Administration will be handled by Paul Haley.

Bob Warren, former Administration Officer will take command of a squadron. Bill Greenie will be the new Information Service Officer, replacing Paul Boucher, who will employ command of a flight. Paul Harriman, formerly Provost Marshal, will see a squadron command. Paul's office will be filled by Bill Brennan. The office of Air Inspector, previously filled by Bard O'Neill will now be filled by Bob Parker. Bard will also become a flight commander.

WSSE Initiates Faculty Series

by William N. Cosel, Jr.

Father Morin recently appeared on Counterpoint to inaugurate WSSE's latest project, "The Faculty Panel Series."

The purpose of this project is to aid undecided students in choosing their fields of concentration and to foster a deeper appreciation of the curriculum and faculty. This will be effected by interviews with Departmental chairmen and other members of the faculty.

According to the proposed schedule, a different field of concentration will be discussed each week with stress being placed upon the esthetic and practical values of the required and elective courses offered by each department. It is also hoped that students, hearing members of the faculty under these different circumstances, will come to know them better and see them as more than just the "lectures behind the desk."

In his interview, Father Morin explained the system of education at St. Michael's College and stated how this new series will be of extreme value to the student body.

Hockey League All Tied Up

by Mike Martin

With the season practically half over, it appears that the hockey race has turned into a two team affair.

The high flying frosh now jointly occupy first place with a determined group of juniors. The sophs, playing without a consistently dependable goal tender, have dropped their last two contests. The winless seniors just don't have the manpower to keep up with their opponents.

DONOVAN STARS

On Thursday the freshmen got another outstanding performance from Jeff Donovan, probably the best goal tender in the infant league. Donovan received all the help he needed from Aram Arabian (2 goals) as the seniors were able to score but once. Murphy and Edwards also chipped in a marker each while Tony Natale turned in another fine game from his defense position.

A disastrous first period ruined the fourth year men on Saturday afternoon as the junior first line of Joe Hogan, Pat Curtin and Tom Moylan combined to score six goals. With the count at 6-0 it appeared to be all over but the seniors fought back gamely with John Schlegel and Emile Daglio netting two goals each. Nick Claps' goal late in the second period proved to be the margin of victory as the game ended, 7-6.

JUNIORS TRIP SOPHS

The freshmen, moving the puck with teamwork, rolled over the seniors in the first game of Sunday's double-header. In the nightcap, the juniors squeezed out an 8-6 victory over the sophomores. Scoring punch and tight defense seem to be the clues to the freshmen success so far this year.

With Murphy and Arabian leading the scoring parade with a pair each, the frosh had little trouble defeating the men of '62. Natale again shone on defense and also contributed a long slap shot to the first year total of eight goals.

GADBOIS SCORES FOUR

In the finals the better balanced juniors were able to offset fine individual performances by sophs Jim Sweet, Don Bank, and John Comstock, each of whom notched two goals.

Dave Gadbois became the first player of the year to net four markers in a single game. He received able assistance from Pat Curtin, Tom Moylan, and Bard O'Neill. The rash of goals scored against the juniors over the week end seens to have been caused by the absence of Bob Rinaldi, their regular net minder.

The question is whether the juniors can crack the freshman defense and contain Murphy, Arabian and Co. at the same time. We'll know the answer when these two teams clash this week.

Squires Down UVM Frosh; Kryger High With 25

by Ray LeRoux

The Frosh maintained their perfect record by defeating the little Cats from UVM, 66-58, Monday.

The game was played as a Heart Fund benefit in Memorial Auditorium.

The New York Yankees have the M and M boys and our Frosh have their equivalent of the same in the K and K boys, Vinny Kazalonis and Ed Kryger.

Vinny is the season's high scorer, averaging 23 a game. Against the Cats, he scored only 17, but they were big baskets when the opposing defense began to get sticky.

Ed is runner-up for the season with a 17 pt. average, but he bombarded the nets with 25 in this game to take high scoring honors. Most of his points came on long jumpers from the right corner. He is currently averaging over 50% from the floor.

The little Knights of Ed Markey led throughout this contest, the closest the Cats came being 56-52 late in the ball game.

The 80 plus average of the Knights fell for the first time this season as Coach Ed Markey decided to play a possession type ball game against the Cats, who were sporadically using a fast break with some success.

With a moderate lead at halftime, Billy Sullivan entered the game and immediately scored 5 big points to put the game out of reach. Billy Cummins, another reserve, also scored some big baskets that made the Cats stop double teaming the K boys and use a more honest defense.

Brian Quinn shifted between the front and backcourt, and pulled down his share of rebounds.

In a game marred by frequent errors of omission, the Knights were able to display a better control of the ball and take good shots, while UVM was employing a spectacular but unorthodox offense.

Sophs & Juniors Win In Kings

The sophomores moved out of last place Monday night by 1 1/2 points, by defeating the seniors three times.

The main factors in this triumph were George Vogler's 2-6 game and 525 series, along with Ed Pogoda's 553 and "Peanuts" Kaczanowcke's 520. High man for the seniors was Gothers with a 532 series.

JUNIORS vs. FRESHMEN

The juniors remained in second place by taking 2 1/2 points from the freshmen. Hartley, who rolled a 243 game and a 620 series, was the big man for the victors.

Freshmen Hladik, Radamaker and Sadrowsky had series of 598, 538, and 524 respectively. Hladik's 240 game was high for the frosh.

SMC Riflemen Set Record Against Bowdoin

Shooting seems to be the sport at St. Michael's these days.

After the varsity rifle team broke all school records in a match against Bowdoin, the AFROTC Rifle team turned in a victory over the Middlebury ROTC team, 1349-1328 in a shoulder to match.

Varsity captain Harry Haarup, the leading shooter on both teams, once again led all scoring with a 99-91-90 triple for 280.

Middlebury captain, Ronald Gambolati, led his team with 269.

Then you'd like computer programming, the new career that makes full use of your logical talents. If you have a keen analytical and logical mind—and want to use it fully after college—then computer programming at IBM may be just the career you've always looked forward to.

A computer programmer examines a business, industrial, or scientific problem and translates it into a special mathematical-logical language for the computer. Working at amazing speeds, the computer can produce answers in minutes, even seconds. Some of these answers might actually take days to produce by other methods.

The problems are interesting and varied. IBM programmers have used computers to predict hurricanes, tell days ahead where satellites will be in space and locate the best factory sites for businessmen.

No previous knowledge of computers is necessary; an intensive training course will equip you for your work. But you should have an analytical and logical turn of mind, and at least two years of college mathematics.

In computer programming you will find that the salaries are excellent, and that the future can be virtually as unlimited as the future of the computer itself. There are ample opportunities for continued education.

The IBM representative will interview on your campus. He will be glad to give you details about this fascinating new profession. IBM is an Equal Opportunity Employer. # Tourney Hopes Still Alive; SMC Beats LeMoyne

Fitz Hoops 22; Mac's Free Throws Win It

by Bob Butler

SMC got on the victory path again and upped its tournament hopes immeasurably Saturday night at Syracuse, N.Y. by scoring a stunning 64-62 overtime win over LeMoyne College.

Sophomore Ed McDonnell donned the hero's laurels for the third time this season by coming through with the winning points on a pair of free throws with a scant three seconds remaining.

HIGHLY TOUTED OPPONENT

LeMoyne, who before the encounter boasted an excellent 11-5 record and a near win over Providence gave the Knights stern competition throughout.

Jim Fitzgerald

The score was tied at 33 at the half and when the regulation time was used up, both teams were in a 58-58 deadlock. Throughout the game, the lead changed hands many times and the play was rough from the opening tap to the final buzzer.

KNIGHTS COME FROM BEHIND

But despite this, the Jacobmen found it necessary to come from behind to gain the win as they found themselves on the short end of a 54-48 score with only four minutes to go. Here is where St. Mike's literally hustled their opponents into the ground, eventually tying things up and then dramatically securing the victory from the charity stripe.

Big Jim Fitzgerald played another fine game under the boards and he emerged as his team's leading scorer with 22 points. Dick Stanley, LeMoyne's flashy 6'5" forward, tied him for game honors. Walt Baumann contributed 14 timely markers to the Knights' cause and also teamed up with Fitz to keep LeMoyne's big men well in check in that vital matter of repossessions. The only other Knight to crack double figures was Fred Cerrato, who chipped in with 10 markers.

Frosh Win 87-82 in Ov'time Against Dartmouth; Four Men Hit Doubles

by Mike Tranghese

The St. Michael's freshman basketball team overcame a major road block in its attempt to cap an undefeated season, downing the Dartmouth frosh Saturday at Hanover by an overtime score of 87-82.

Throughout the game the Squires were up against tremendous odds as Dartmouth fielded a squad that featured a frontcourt averaging over 6'3" and a backcourt that went around 6'2". The fact that the Green were outrebounded by 42-32 is fine testimony to the great hustle and heads up play that the Markeymen displayed throughout the contest.

Battling fiercely throughout the encounter, SMC was able to capitalize on some costly Dartmouth mistakes in the overtime session and hence sew up the game.

FINE TEAM EFFORT

To pick out one individual star for St. Mike's would be unfair, as many players contributed to the win. In addition to the fine play of the starters, the subs also had a big hand in the victory.

SQUIRES COME FROM BEHIND

The Markeymen, who were behind for most of the game and threw everything into a deadlock on two free throws by Vin Kazalonis with but two minutes to go.

Both teams then proceeded to trade hoops and Dartmouth took a 78-76 lead with a little more than a minute showing on the clock. Sub forward Mike Hadlock then came through with one of his patented twisting lay-ups, thus tying things up and forcing an overtime period.

CONNELLY SEWS THINGS UP

Diminutive Danny Connelly, who time and time again kills the idea that basketball is a game for big guys, then assumed the hero's role, almost single-handedly whipping the Big Green, by tallying seven big points in the final three minutes of play.

The outstanding frontcourt combo of Vinny Kazalonis and Ed Kryger once again proved tough under pressure, "Kaz" had 26 points, 16 of which came from the free throw stripe where he missed but two tries. He hauled in 18 rebounds. Standing only 6'3" he really shows what positioning, jumping ability and determination can accomplish under the boards.

Kryger ably assisted his frontcourt mate by flipping in 18 points and pulling down a like number of rebounds. From his play so far this season, Ed has pretty much disproven the contention that one must have experience as a high school star before he can break into college ranks.

Also breaking into double figures were backcourtstalwarts Connelly and Brian Quinn, who chipped in 19 and 13 points respectively. Their play left little to be desired.

Yearlings Crush Plattsburg By 33

The SMC frosh once again ripped through the chaotic defense of Plattsburgh State Teachers College to score a 92-59 romp over the hapless Profs from across the lake.

This time the Squires hit for a phenomenal team shooting percentage of 49 per cent from the floor and a good 75 per cent from the free throw stripe.

Leading the scorers was aggressive Ed Kryger who racked up 22 points, eight from the floor and six from the line. Vin Kazalonis, hitting on eight of his twelve attempts from the floor, added 20 points and Bill Sullivan racked up 15 counters, a personal high for him. Brian Quinn, playing his usual heads up game, tallied 11 points and was a demon on defense.

SMC jumped to an early 14-7 lead and at this point Sullivan was put into the game. Hereafter things were not even close and, before the half ended, the Squires enjoyed a 20 point bulge. The second half was mere routine and Coach Markey had a good opportunity to substitute freely.

For Plattsburgh only forward John MacCarthy, who scored 15, could manage to put the ball in the basket with any regularity.

The victory was sweet revenge. SMC last year suffered an 87-83 overtime loss to the Dolphins.

Bowlers Excel In Tourney

by Ray LeRoux

St. Michael's College Intercollegiate Bowling team (tenpins) finished first among New England Colleges in the first invitational open tournament held at the University of Rhode Island. The Kegler Knights were fifth in a national field of 15.

The tournament was won by New York University with a score of 2730. Alfred State Technical Institute finished second, St. John's University of Brooklyn third, and Pratt Institute fourth in overall competition. St. Michael's rounded out the first five with a score of 2527.

St. Michael's had earlier in the week bowled a record 2911 against Oregon State in its own East-West Conference but could not match this mark which would have won the non-handicap tourney.

Butler New Editor...

by James M. White

I take pleasure in announcing that Robert J. Butler will succeed me as Sports Editor of the MICHAELMAN. He will serve in this capacity for the 1962-1963 term.

A native of Pittsfield, Massachusetts, he was graduated from Pittsfield High School, class of 1960, and is now pursuing a bachelor's degree in English Literature.

During his two years on the sports staff, he has made a lasting impression with his highly knowledgable and imaginative writing. His work has always been marked by a high degree of quality.

During the past month, Mr. Butler has been an assistance to me and has been quickly learning the method of presenting a campus newspaper to the student body and faculty. During this time, he has pursued these problems with a great zeal and a high degree of success. With these rare qualities in mind, I feel that he will have great success in adding to the lustre of the sports section and the MICHAELMAN as a whole. I have the greatest confidence in him and it is with this in mind that I now put the reins completely in his hands.
